Discover your content pillars

Content pillars are themes or topics that are central to your content strategy. Here's why they are important:

Consistency: Content pillars provide a structured approach to your content creation. They help you consistently generate content that aligns with your brand's goals and messaging.

Audience Engagement: Content pillars help you cater to different aspects of your target audience's interests and needs, increasing engagement and interaction with your brand.

Brand Identity: They reinforce your brand identity and message by consistently addressing key topics or themes that reflect your business values.

Efficiency: Content pillars make it easier to plan, organize, and schedule content in advance, saving you time and effort in the long run.

Use the space below to brainstorm and then identify between three and five content pillars for your brand. Each piece of content that you create should align with one of these pillars. Think about how you can offer your audience value beyond the product or service you are selling, or highlight your unique competitive advantage.

Ideas to get you started:

Understand Content Types

Instagram offers various content types, including posts, carousels, and reels, each with its own unique features and best practices for optimal results.

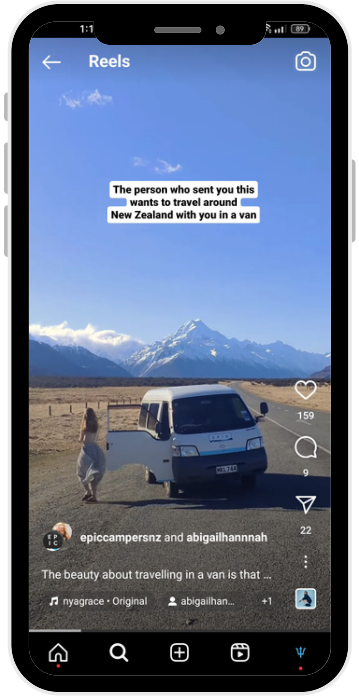

We go into more detail on each of these formats in the next couple of pages.

A static post or single post is a single image in the main Instagram feed

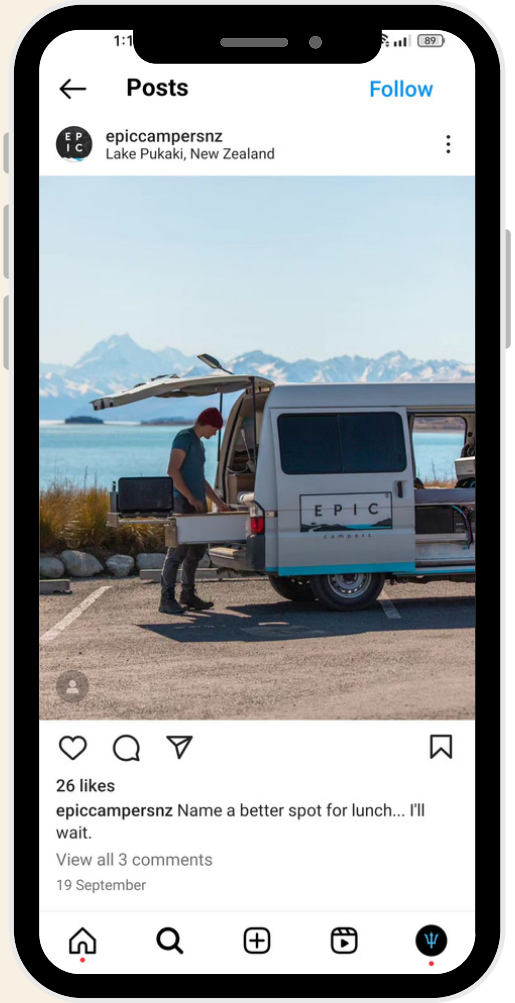

A carousel is 2-10 images that are swipeable in the main Instagram feed

A reel is short-form video that appears in the Instagram feed and dedicated reel feed.

Single Post

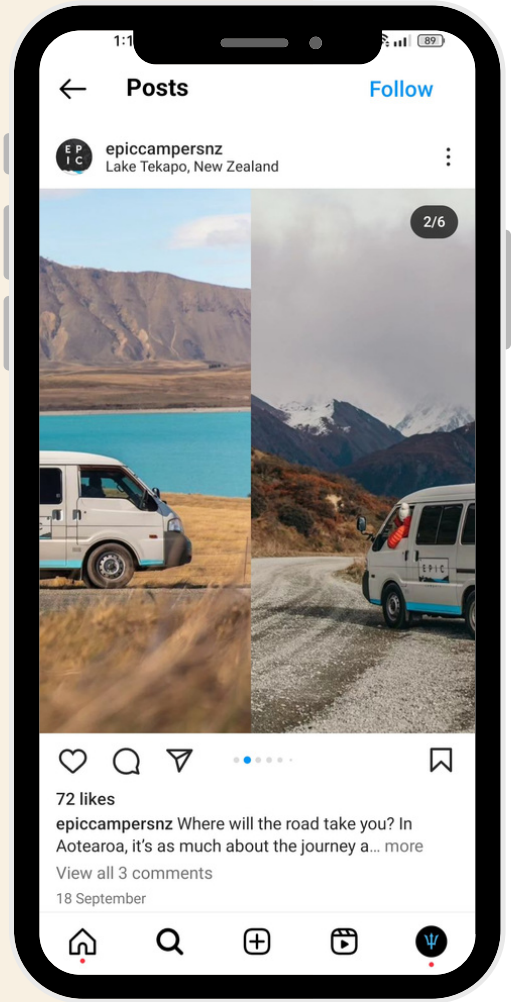

Use a Single Post for:

Visual Storytelling: Posts are great for sharing a single image or video that tells a concise story, showcases a product, or highlights an event.
Announcements: Use posts to make announcements, share updates, or promote a specific offer or sale.

How to Optimise:

High-Quality Imagery: Use high-resolution images and videos to make your posts visually appealing.
Engaging Captions: Craft compelling captions that complement your visuals, ask questions, or encourage interaction.
Hashtags: Include relevant hashtags to expand your post's reach to a broader audience.
Tagging: Tag relevant users or accounts and locations to increase visibility.

Carousel

Use a Carousel Post for:

Storytelling: Carousels allow you to tell a more extended and in-depth visual story.

Educational content: Use graphics to share step-by-step guides, tutorials, or informative content in a slide format.

Product or services showcase: Display multiple product images, angles, or variations within a single post.

How to Optimise:

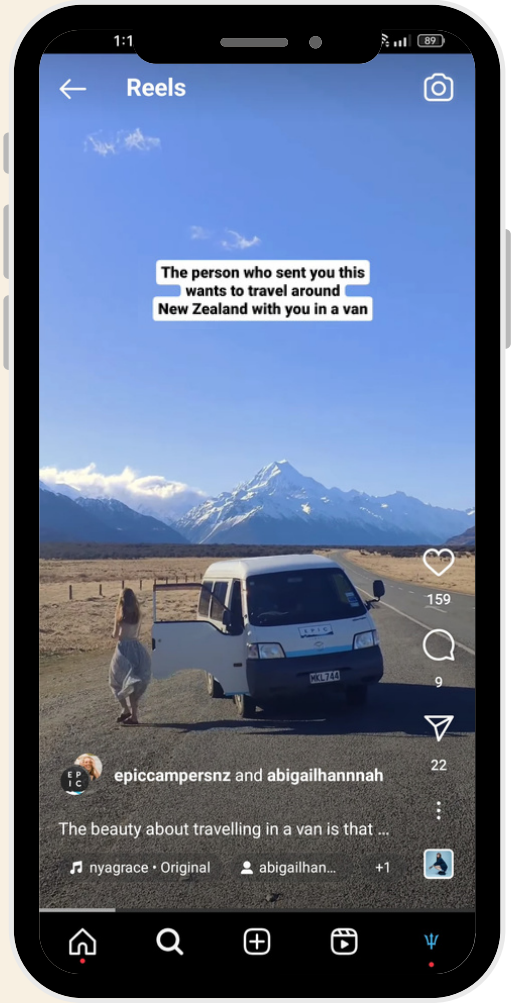

Sequential storytelling: Plan the sequence of your carousel to guide viewers through a cohesive narrative.

Consistent theme: Maintain a consistent visual theme or style throughout the carousel.

Engagement prompts: Encourage users to swipe right for more by including calls to action in your captions or visuals.

Variety: Mix images and videos to create engaging and dynamic carousels.

Reel

Use a Reel for:

Entertainment: Reels are ideal for entertaining and engaging your audience with creative, fun, or humorous content.

Tutorials: Share quick how-to tutorials, life hacks, or behind-the-scenes glimpses.

Trends: Participate in trends relevant to your travel niche or create your own to boost engagement.

How to Optimise:

Hook in the Beginning: Capture viewers' attention within the first few seconds to encourage them to watch the entire reel.

Music and sound: Incorporate popular music or trending audio to make your reels more engaging, relatable and reach a new audience.

Use text and captions: Include text overlays or captions to convey messages or instructions, especially if the video is sound-dependent.

Consistency: Maintain a consistent style or theme for your reels to establish brand recognition.

Engagement: Encourage likes, comments, and shares by asking questions or inviting viewers to interact.

Craft perfect captions

Hook Second to your visual, your caption's opening line is your one and only chance to grab your audience's attention as they scroll through their feed. To maximize its impact, consider the following strategies:

- Questions: Pose a question that piques curiosity, encouraging readers to continue.
- Humor: Inject some humor or wit into your opening to entertain and engage.
- Emojis: Emojis can convey emotions and add visual interest, instantly attracting the eye.

Story Once you've hooked your audience, it's time to immerse them in a compelling narrative. A successful caption takes readers on a journey, aligning with the essence of your travel brand.

- Emotive Language: Use descriptive and evocative language to paint a vivid picture. Appeal to the senses by describing sights, sounds, tastes, and feelings.
- Brand Voice: Maintain consistency with your brand's voice, whether it's formal, friendly, luxurious, or casual. Your captions should reflect your brand's personality and values

Close and call to action (CTA): The close of your caption should bring the story full circle, providing closure and a sense of completion. The CTA is the most critical part of your caption, as it directs your audience on what to do next. Leaving your caption open-ended can result in missed opportunities. Consider these CTA ideas:

- Engagement: Encourage likes, comments, and shares by asking questions or prompting feedback.
- Link in bio: If you want users to take a specific action on your website, direct them to the link in your bio.
- Booking or purchasing: If applicable, guide your audience on how to book a service or make a purchase.
- Tagging: Encourage users to tag friends or share your post in their stories.

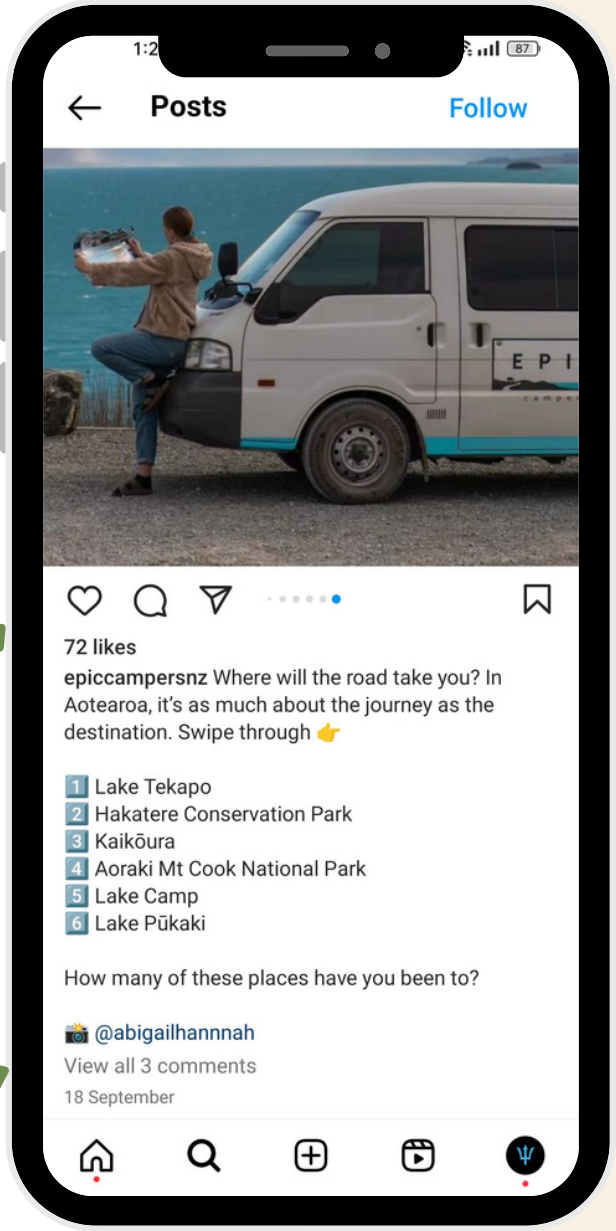

Craft perfect captions

Hook:
Opening with a question draws the reader in. This is also a great place to use emojis to grab attention.

Story:
The body of the caption invites readers to imagine the experience that the brand offers and takes them on a journey. Using a carousel allows the reader to swipe through the visual graphics and align these with the locations listed in the caption.

Close and CTA:
Finishing with a question prompts readers to engage in the comments. This could be made stronger by explicitly asking readers to leave a comment, “How many of the places have you been to? Let us know in the comments!”

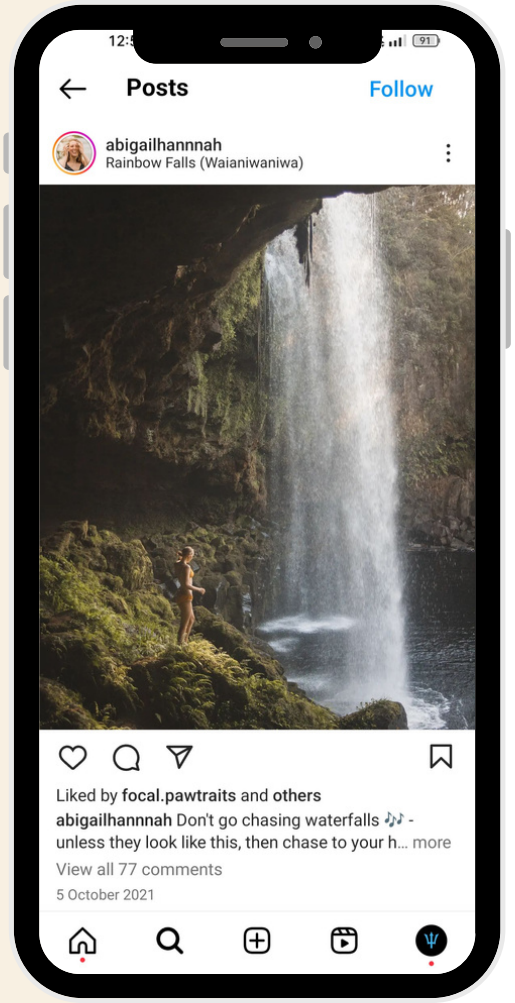

Tip: don’t forget to use location tags and tag any accounts to improve your visibility.

Week 1

1 The face or owner behind the business: Who owns the business, share something personal, or share the person customers will interact with.

2 Activities to do in your local area or region: Think about DOC walks, regional parks, museums, share some of your best kept local secrets.

3 Customer testimonial or story: Did you get great feedback from a recent customer or a good Google review?

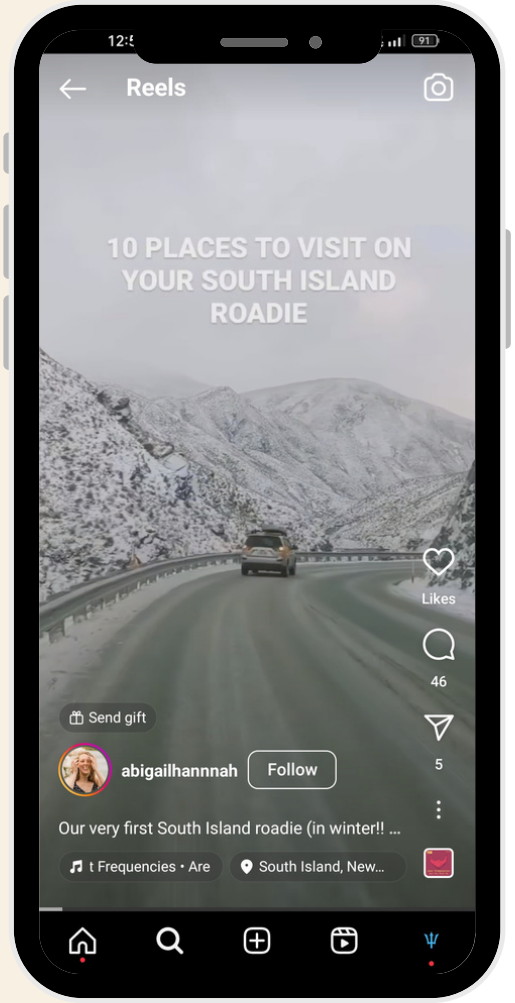

4 Transformation story: What will customers experience or feel when they use your product or service? How will it make their life better than it was before?

5 How to purchase or book: A step-by-step breakdown of exactly how people can buy - do they have to call the office, book online, visit a brick-and-mortar store?

6 Ask a question to receive feedback: Engage your audience by asking thought-provoking questions and collecting valuable feedback.

7 Good things you're doing or supporting: Highlight any philanthropic efforts and its contributions to positive change through conservation or supporting local charities.

Week 2

8 Your zone of genius and competitive advantage: Showcase what sets your business apart and your unique strengths.

9 The best way to enjoy your product or service: Guide customers on having the best experience - is there a recommended season, time of day, or weather.

10 Talk directly to your target audience: Address your ideal customers, tailoring your message to their interests and needs. Show your ideal customer how your product or service is perfect for them.

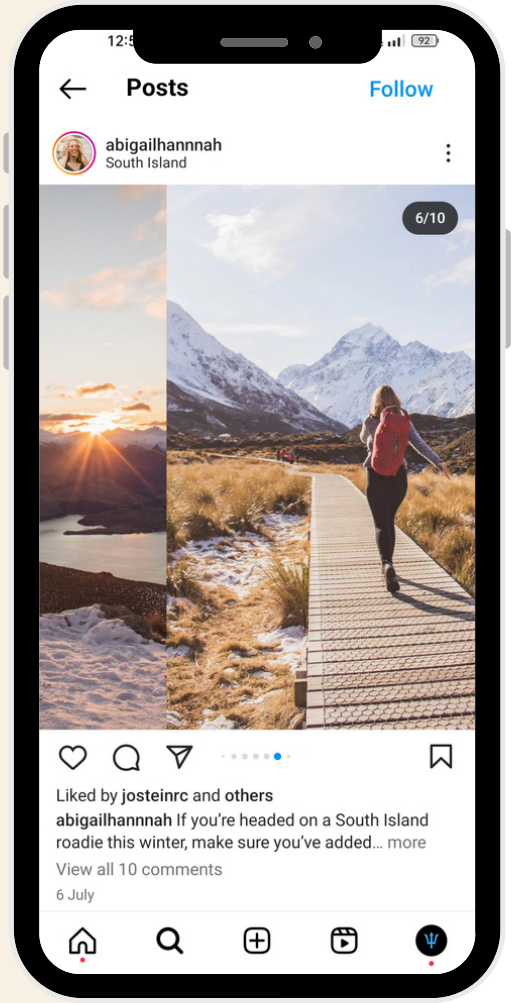

11 Shout out to partners or collaborators: Acknowledge any valuable partnerships and collaborations, or other small local businesses you love.

12 A personal story: Share a personal narrative or story from someone in the team that relates to your brand's journey or mission.

13 Relevant local news headline or global issue: Stay current by sharing news topics relevant to your locality or global issues of interest.

14 Fun fact related to your industry: Everyone loves a “Did you know...?” Surprise your audience with a fascinating fact or trivia.

Week 3

15 Your origin story: Tell the story of your brand's beginnings, it's history, it's roots and its driving mission and purpose.

16 Customers' favorite thing about your brand: Feature what customers love most about your brand and their experiences.

17 Share a limited-time offer: Create a sense of urgency by promoting exclusive offers with a time limit. Everyone loves a bargain - you could even introduce a 24 hour flash sale!

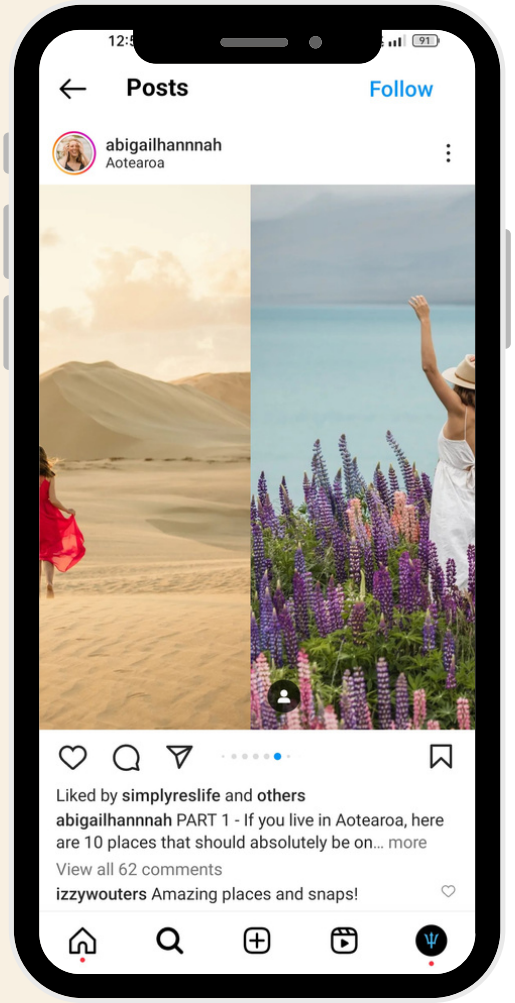

18 How it works - the process: Break down the process from inquiry to checkout, making it easy for customers to understand.

19 Highlight a press feature: Shine a spotlight on any media coverage, articles or podcasts that have featured your brand.

20 Use comedy with a joke or a pun: Add a touch of humor to your posts by incorporating clever jokes or puns.

21 Something people may not know about your brand: Reveal interesting facts or lesser-known aspects of your brand. This could also be a behind-the-scenes look at your team at work or your processes.

Week 4

22 Repost user-generated content: Share captivating content created by your customers (always ask for permission to reshare images and video as they may be subject to copyright).

23 Directions on how to find your business: Provide clear instructions on locating your physical business or a link in bio to an online store.

24 Team member shout-out and recognition: Celebrate your team members' contributions and recognize their achievements.

25 What makes your brand unique and stand out: Showcase the distinct qualities and characteristics that set your brand apart and make it unforgettable and truly one-of-a-kind.

26 Showcase awards or recognition: Display your brand's accolades, awards, or industry recognitions.

27 Your local town or region: Share the best of your local town or region and why you're happy to call it home. Showcase those unique qualities that make it special.

28 Reshare a post that performed well: Revisit a post from the past month that garnered high engagement and give it a fresh twist.
